CRUISE LINE FUEL SURCHARGES

Carnival Cruise Line: For bookings made through June 11, 2008, the additional charge is $7 per person, per day, not to exceed $98 per person, per voyage, for the first and second passengers in a stateroom, and $2 per person, per day, not to exceed $28 per person, per voyage, for any additional passengers in the same stateroom. Bookings made on or after June 12, 2008, the fuel surcharge is $9 per person, per day, not to exceed $126 per person, per voyage, for the first and second passengers in a stateroom. A fuel surcharge of $4 per person, per day, not to exceed $56 per person, per voyage, will be added for any additional passengers in the same stateroom. For all 2010 sailings, bookings made on or after October 31, 2008 will not be charged a fuel supplement.

Carnival Cruise Line's family of cruise lines, including Costa Cruises, Cunard Line, Holland America Line, Princess Cruises and The Yachts of Seabourn have announced that effective October 31, 2008, the existing fuel supplement will be eliminated for all new bookings on 2010 departures. At that same time, a price increase on 2010 sailings will become effective. Additionally, the company has established specific guidelines under which the current fuel supplement may be reimbursed to consumers for 2008 and 2009 voyages.

For 2008 and 2009 departures, if the price of light sweet crude oil according to the NYMEX (New York Mercantile Exchange Index) is $70 per barrel or less at the 2:30 p.m. close of business as reported by Reuters on each of the 25 consecutive trading days ending five trading days prior to the guest's cruise departure date, the fuel supplement will be refunded in the form of a shipboard credit. Guests who book a 2010 cruise prior to October 31, 2008, will be charged the current fuel supplement but will also be eligible for a refund of the fuel supplement in accordance with the same fuel price conditions that are being implemented for the 2008 and 2009 departures.

Bill Harber, director of marketing for Carnival Corporation & plc, said the company was implementing these initiatives due to the recent trends in declining fuel prices in an effort to migrate away from charging a separate fuel supplement. "If fuel prices stabilize below $70 a barrel, we will be able to effectively eliminate a separate fuel supplement." However, he cautioned that there is still a risk that fuel prices could move higher "which would require us to maintain or reinstate a fuel supplement but the company is hopeful that the goal of eliminating the fuel supplement can be achieved."

Costa Cruises: For bookings made through June 11, 2008, the additional charge is $7 per person, per day, not to exceed $98 per person, per voyage, for the first and second passengers in a stateroom, and $2 per person, per day, not to exceed $28 per person, per voyage, for any additional passengers in the same stateroom. For bookings made on or after June 12, 2008, the fuel surcharge is $9 per person, per day, not to exceed $126 per person, per voyage, for the first and second passengers in a stateroom. A fuel surcharge of $4 per person, per day, not to exceed $56 per person, per voyage, will be added for any additional passengers in the same stateroom. For all 2010 sailings, bookings made on or after October 31, 2008 will not be charged a fuel supplement. See also Carnival Cruise Line's 2010 sailings policy above on fuel surcharge.
